

BIG CONGRESSMAN FROM FIRST SPEAKS FOR A. FLOYD BYRD

Large Audience Greeted Speech of Hon. Ollie James At Court House
Friday Afternoon In Interest of Mr. Byrd.

The Circuit Court room was crowded to the door and standing room was at a premium Friday afternoon to hear the Hon. Ollie James, Congressman from the First Kentucky District speak in the interest of Hon. A. Floyd Byrd's candidacy for Congress. The speaker was introduced by Judge James M. Benton and was enthusiastically received.

Mr. James said in part: "It is being asked of each Congressional candidate, are you a representative of the people or the corporations. The Democrats of this district have selected an honest and honorable man whom we pledge to be for the people and besides he pledges himself to represent the people. Mr. Langley who has been the representative here has shown how he stands in matters as between the people and corporations and his platform this time seems to be no better than before. He has always represented the corporations and not the people."

"I was told that Senator W. O. Bradley and John Langley spoke in this room yesterday. I told them to fumigate it well."

"The tariff is but a tax. The word tariff was derived from a small island called Terif where a band of pirates stayed and as the ships passed with their cargoes they would go out and demand a part or take it all if you did not give it over. The tariff has always been a robber. No human person ever dreamed that the tariff was made to enrich so greatly or there would have been no government form in this country."

"Senator Dooliver in speaking on the tariff last year, said that Cook discovered the North Pole and Payne and Aldrich revised the tariff and President Taft congratulated both. But that if Cook did not reach the North Pole he came nearer than did Payne or Aldrich come to reducing the tariff. Each family in the United States uses 380 pounds of sugar in a year and the sugar trust picks your pocket for $8 per year and Langley helped to make the law that enables them to do this."

"Langley goes around and tells you that he is against Cannon and that after what he has done for him. But I want to tell you that it will be no use for him to be against Cannon for Champ Clark will be the next speaker. Langley, so I understand, boasts of the fact that he had the tariff placed on lumber. James G. Blair said that there would never be a tariff placed on lumber."

"The Republican party has strayed away from its doctrine and now we have a tariff on this article. The lumber of this country is owned by a few people. There are many people in this country who have no homes. I want these people to have their homes and am for free lumber for this reason."

"There is not a single shoe factory in this district and yet Mr. Langley voted against the amendment taking the duty of leather and is making you pay a high price for all leather goods. They increased the tariff on rubber raising the price of rubber shoes 25 per cent and who voted for this—your Congressman, Mr. Langley and every man, woman and child who buys rubber shoes has to pay tribute to Aldrich and the rubber trust."

FISCAL COURT IN SESSION

The Clark Fiscal Court met in special session Friday morning to consider the notice of the Clark County Construction Company that it would furnish no more stone and do no further work because it claimed the county had violated its contract. All the magistrates were present. Attorney Winn for the company stated that the company wished to present its sessions in writing. An adjournment was taken to 12:30 to give an opportunity to finish the writing. At 12:30 the court reconvened and the Construction Company stated that it could not have its statement ready until 3:30 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Judge Evans stated that some days ago Mr. Hodgkin presented him with a written request to be informed of the amount of rock needed on certain parts of the Big Stoner pike. I told him it was a matter of which I knew nothing, as I had not been over the pike for more than a year and Mr. Haggard was absent. But I said you go and see Squire Dooley and wherever he tells you to put the rock, do so, and I know that will be satisfactory to the Road Supervisor.

"I want to disavow that I have done anything to retard the construction company in its work. Many of the roads are in bad condition and must be repaired. I have tried to do anything that would let them go along and get through. I was in favor of giving them some of the roads. Any contract this court makes I'll try my best to have carried out. I have never tried in any way to block the carrying out of this or any contract. I wanted to take out some of the roads in the first place, but I have done everything I could to carry it out. When the company got Wheeler and Powell to examine the condition of the bridges Mr. Haggard had them all repaired. I have nothing against the company."

Mr. Haggard said: The company has never, at any time intimated that they wanted anything that I have not dropped whatever I was doing to go and show them what they wanted. I went out to the far end of the Big Stoner pike with Mr. Hodgkin and showed him what was wanted. I told him that if they got rock from Squire Dooley I should not require so much at the far end and if they got rock from Mr. Will Gay I should not require them to spread so much on this end. I designed the places to skip. I told them I would not require them to make any longer haul than possible. I often let them alone as much as possible and sometimes Mr. VanMeter put on treble the amount I thought necessary. I gave them the same directions on the Big Stoner pike as I did on the Lexington and Iron Works pike and they never asked me for any other. So anxious to have them get along that I stayed away on the Big Stoner because I thought that bad rock was better than no rock at all."

In going with Mr. Hodgkin I pointed out one part to be repaired and another to be skipped and indicated right along just what was wanted."

I never objected to their bills. We never had any dispute as to the amount of rock furnished nor the amount to be paid for except the screenings."

I followed the same procedure on the Big Stoner as on all other roads. On motion of Squire Dooley seconded by Squire Dooley the following order was unanimously passed:

Order.
Whereas the Clark County Construction Company on October 25th, 1910, by a writing served on J. H. Evans, County Judge for Clark county, did notify said county by said writing that said Construction Company would furnish no more stone and do no further work under their contract with said county to repair the various turnpikes embraced in said contract, and whereas on October 26th, 1910, notice was given said company of a meeting of the Fiscal Court called for October 28th, 1910, to consider their complaint, and whereas the said Construction Company failed to make any statement to this court, of their reasons for this action although duly notified on the 26th inst. of this session of court and being present by attorney now ask further time in order to state their position, and whereas some of the turnpikes embraced in said contract are now in bad condition and it is very necessary that they be immediately repaired before winter sets in, in order to save them from ruin.

Now therefore the Road Supervisor is ordered and directed to take charge of said roads and have them repaired as rapidly as possible.

This October 28, 1910.

The court received and filed the inventory of the county farm prepared by Squires Swope and Goodpaster and ordered keeper Kissinger and his wife paid their year's salary. The magistrates ordered one day's pay for the meeting of the court and an extra day for Squire Swope and Goodpaster for taking the County Farm inventory. The Construction Company stated it would file its reasons with the County Judge.

LEXINGTON TOBACCO SALE

The Highest Average Made at the Farmers' Warehouse.

The regular auction sales at the Lexington loose leaf warehouses commenced Tuesday at 9 o'clock. The Farmers' warehouse had one of the largest sales in the city. Nearly a hundred thousand pounds was sold on this floor. This was a little remarkable considering the fact that this house does not buy in the country but does strictly a commission business with the farmer.

The prices ranged from $4.40 to $19. The highest average realized by anyone for a whole load was made at the Farmers by Mr. Chas. Dearing of Versailles. His whole load averaged $15.10 for all grades.

The improved lights at the Farmers' warehouse showed up the tobacco to perfection and created general comment.

Mr. W. E. Lea, the new general manager seemed perfectly at home and made a splendid impression. Col. J. M. Finch, the auctioneer at the Farmers proved that he was the farmers' friend by pulling hard for the last little bid on each pile.

The Farmers Tobacco Warehouse is the Burley Loose or Bolmer House on South Broadway. The splendid sale made at this house Tuesday together with the courteous treatment extended to both seller and visitor made many a customer for the new management.

BRADLEY SPEAKS FOR LANGLEY

Senator Says He is an Old Fashioned Standpat Republican—Asks That Present Congressman Be Returned.

Senator Bradley followed Mr. Langley in the speaking at the courthouse Thursday and pleaded with the people to send Mr. Langley back to Congress. During his speech he stated that he was not an insurgent Republican, but a plain old-fashioned Republican, a standpatter. He was careful not to mention the name of Roosevelt any more than possible, only referring to him once and that was in regard to the endorsement he had given Mr. Langley. He said in part:

"It again affords me great pleasure to be with the good people of Clark county. I am here today to speak in behalf of one of the best representatives the Tenth District has ever had, Mr. John W. Langley. Mr. Langley has done more for the people of this district than any man you have ever sent to Washington. It was not his desire to make this race. He felt that he should go out and do for himself more but when President Taft heard of this he called him into his office and told him that he would never do for him to quit, and that he must come back to Kentucky and make this race."

"Mr. Langley also has an endorsement from Mr. Roosevelt and I ask you people of Clark who you also endorse him? He has gotten appropriations for public buildings, increase in pensions for the old soldiers, had bills passed to improve the water ways in your State and many other things."

"There are many things now before Congress that it is necessary to finish and to do this you must have a majority of Republicans to do it. If the Democrats should get a majority what could they do? As fast as they would pass laws they would be killed in the Senate."

"They talk about 1500 majority in Clark. I know this is a Democratic county and am sorry for it, but I know the good farmers who have enjoyed this great prosperity under the Republican rule will never do something that they will be sorry for afterwards. I also know that Mr. John W. Langley will at least hold his own in this county."

"I would like for someone to tell what the Democrats have done in this country. Can you show me a law they have made? It was the Republican party that made the tariff law, the Republican party that framed the postal laws. When the Democrats were in power it cost three cents to send a letter. We have reduced it to two cents and will shortly reduce it to one cent."

"The Democratic orators are talking all over the country about insolvency but what is it—it is only a difference between the Republicans on the tariff questions. Some want a higher rate and others a lower rate. At that the Insurgents will never do the Democrats a bit of good because they will never vote to do what the Democrats want. There are many Democrats who are in favor of a tariff law. There are many Democratic representatives who are spotted. They want a tariff on some things in one State on others in other States, etc. What they want is a tariff on something that they are interested in and do not want to protect their neighbors."

"When the Republican party comes before you they talk to you about what they have done and the Democrats about what they have not done."

"To the negro voters I ask if you are going to vote the Republican ticket this fall or are you going to sell out. The Republican party fought to free you and has stood by you ever since. It is the Republican party now that is making it possible for you to obtain the high wages that you now receive."

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Two New Teachers Are Elected and Salary of Mr. A. R. Baldwin is Increased to One Hundred Dollars.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education Thursday night, two new teachers were elected. One of the teachers was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Osborne, the other to do substitute work. The teachers elected were Mrs. Harry Tanner and Mrs. French Tipton. Every member of the board was present at the meeting and although they were in session several hours very little work was actually done.

Mr. J. K. Allen, chairman of the organization committee, reported that in one of the rooms at the colored school there were one hundred and twenty-six pupils and that in order to take care of them it was necessary to have two sessions.

Mr. C. E. Bush, chairman of the building and sanitation committee, stated that the work on the new addition of the Hickman street school building was nearly completed; that the plumbing work in all the buildings was also about finished. He also said that the plumbing contractor was having a great deal of trouble in securing the sanitary drinking fountains.

Prof. R. M. Shipp reported that there were 34 pay pupils in the school. There was a total enrollment of $807, which is the largest in the history of the school at this time of the year. The high school now has 91 pupils which is the largest number ever enrolled in this department.

Both Prof. Shipp and Prof. Garvin said that the work of Mr. J. M. Wood, ward, trustee officer, was more than satisfactory as much of the present large enrollment was due to his faithful work.

The form for a teacher's certificate prepared by the committee appointed at the last meeting was accepted and ordered to be printed. Prof. J. H. Garvin reported an enrollment of 382 pupils in his school. He also said that the boys had formed an orchestra and was granted the use of one of the rooms at the school building in which they might practice.

The salary of Mr. A. R. Baldwin as treasurer, was increased to $100 per year.

FREE DRINKS AT THE AUDITORIUM THEATRE

Mr. G. L. Wainwright, who operates the Roxa Kola factory has manufactured a new drink that he calls Sas T Fras, and every person present at the Auditorium will be given a drink free Friday night. The drink will be served at the fountain and the tables in the palm garden. An excellent bill is offered by the management of the theatre in Lew Woods "that ventriloquist." This act is the first of the kind this season and is one of the most amusing working the Sun time. And the splendid act on the bill is "Cume and Earl," in a pianolone and comedy act, in connection with two good pictures the show is up to the standard.

FROSTS ARE PREDICTED BY WEATHER BUREAU

Light Snow Falls in Chicago and Hail Storm is Reported in Cleveland. Accompanied By Snow Flurries.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Killing frosts are predicted by the weather bureau for two mornings throughout the Western and Central States, and to extend Friday night into the Eastern section of the country and almost as far South as the Gulf coast.

Frost accompanied the first well marked cool wave of the present season influenced by a cold area with its center in the Rock Mountain region. Over the central valleys the cold wave swept down Thursday and was moving rapidly eastward. As the wave moves eastward from the Central States the weather in the Atlantic States will clear as the temperature falls.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Snow—not enough of it to coast on, but enough to weigh in the first of the season—fell here Thursday for a few moments.

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 28.—Northern Michigan is experiencing the first snow of the season. The snow is being driven by a thirty-mile gale of wind.

Over three inches of snow has fallen in two hours. All boats on Lake Superior are seeking shelter and steam and electric railway service is demoralized.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 28.—Northwestern Ohio was visited with the first snow of the season Thursday. A fall which lasted for fifteen minutes was reported from Lima, while Cleveland experienced a severe hail storm accompanied with a couple of snow flurries.

FAMOUS HUMORIST TO APPEAR HERE

Opie Read, Author Journalist and Philosopher, to Deliver Lecture at Kentucky Wesleyan College.

Opie Read, the famous author, humorist, journalist, philosopher and other things too numerous to mention, will appear at Kentucky Wesleyan College next Friday evening, November 4, as the first attraction of the Lyceum Course to be given at the college this winter.

Yes, Opie will be here! In order to demonstrate the fact that Opie is on hand, if necessary, I shall put a sign on him and lead him through the streets of Winchester on above said date lest the oft-suffering and kind-hearted citizens of Winchester be fearful that Opie will do the Sherwood act. Every number on this Lyceum Course will come off just as advertised and represented to the public so far as I can possibly bring this to pass. And I assure the public, that, if I fail in securing this result, they will certainly have their money back.

To return to Mr. Reed Under date of October 24, I received the following letter from Mr. Reed:

"My Dear Mr. Tigert:—I thank you for your letter of kindly inquiry, but as I have not received my railroad schedule, I can't forecast the time of my arrival in Winchester. It is not necessary that any special arrangements should be made—just lead me out upon the platform, take off the blind and 'turn me loose.' My subject: Well, Old Lim Jucklin."

Yours,
"OPIE READ."
On the platform at Clarence, Mo., Senator LaFollette made this statement: "I have heard nearly all the lectures, and in my opinion 'Old Lim Jucklin' is not only the most original but withal, one of the very best lectures I have ever heard."

JOHN J. TIGERT.

All during the month of October the weather has been unusually warm. Thursday morning it rained and this was followed by a cold wave. Friday morning ice was found on water that was exposed. Snow, the first of the season, began to fall at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

LOUISVILLE SALES.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 28.—Prices as a rule showed no quotable change as compared with Thursday. Friday, however, some improvement was in evidence as compared with Tuesday, particularly for the better grades of old burley, an advance of one-half cent ruling for high color grades. Old burley offerings amounted to 240 hogsheads, nearly all of which was of the 1909 pool.

The bidding was moderately active and the American Tobacco Company continued to buy its usual quota of offerings. One hoghead, good bright leaf, sold at $19.75, the highest price so far realized on the pooled tobacco. The average prices were probably a little higher, due to the tobacco being of a little higher quality. Rejections were light.

REACHED $20 AT CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 28.—When the third day's sales opened Thursday at the Globe warehouse, by far the biggest crowd that has been present at the sales was on hand. Kirk, led all other competitors when he bought in 59 hogheads. The prices ranged from $13.50 to $7.

CONVICTION OF CRIPPEN.

Dr. Crippen has been given a preliminary hearing, held over; indicted arraigned, tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged two weeks hence all within less time than is sometimes consumed in securing a jury in an American criminal trial.

Is it any wonder that murders are few in England, with this speed in administration and certainty of punishment staring the murderer in the face?

It must have been an impressive scene in the British court, unlike anything we recall in our judicial procedure, when the Lord Chief Justice added after pronouncing sentence of death:

"You have been convicted on evidence which can leave no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that you cruelly murdered your wife and then mutilated her body."

"I advise you to entertain no hope that you can escape the consequences of your crime."

"I implore you to make your peace with Almighty God."

We think we have improved upon the mother country in many things, but we might take a few lessons from her on the enforcement of law.

The Chicago Record-Herald referred to the expedition with which a jury was secured to try Crippen as follows:

THE CRIPPEN JURY: A CONTRAST

We read in the London cable that the jury in the case of Crippen "was secured with little difficulty" in a very short time. Objection was made in three instances only, and this involved no delay worth mentioning. The jury as it stands is a typical body of middle-class tradesmen and clerks.

Let us ask how long it would have taken an Illinois court to secure a "typical" jury to try Crippen had he committed the alleged murder and made the actual subsequent escape in this State? Or in New York, or in Pennsylvania, or anywhere except New Jersey, where criminal justice is lightly efficient for some reason?

The answer is that the legal wrangling, the irrelevant and pointless questions, the interminable examination of possible jurors, the sophistry and non-sense tolerated by the courts, would certainly have meant the waste of a fortnight.

WINCHESTER LUMBER & MANUFACTURING CO.

Why this difference? Is not England Anglo-Saxon? Are not indicted men duly protected there in all their substantial rights?

Away with the abuses and absurdities of our criminal justice. Reform and expedite it. The thing can be done and ought to be done.

After the verdict of guilty and sentence of death on Saturday the Record-Herald added the following chapter in its Sunday issue:

THE CRIPPEN TRIAL AND VERDICT: ANOTHER CONTRAST.

To the lay world the expected has occurred in the Crippen case. The jury's verdict of "Guilty" is undoubtedly the "moral" verdict of the average man, for the prisoner's defense was lame, hollow, insufficient to raise a reasonable doubt.

Whether the prosecution fully established the fact of murder in the first degree—seeing that even the sex of the human parts that had been found in the cellar was not determined—is a serious legal question which the Court of Criminal Appeals will probably consider. That court, a recent addition to England's judicial system, has fully justified its existence, has safeguarded justice and right without encumbering obstruction and technicality.

Meantime these things are plain, striking and instructive: Crippen has received a fair trial; the case was called on Tuesday and ended yesterday morning; examination, cross-examination, analytical argument, the Judge's charge—all of these phases of the trial left absolutely nothing to be desired from the viewpoint of rational Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence.

How differently we try criminal cases of the same sensational character in the United States! Does anyone doubt that a Crippen case would have consumed at least a month in Illinois or New York? The contrast is emphatically unfavorable to our procedure and practice. Again we say, legal reform is imperative here; we must expedite and modernize our criminal justice.—The Leader.

INDIGESTION GOES IN FIVE MINUTES

Heartburn, Gas, Dyspepsia and Other Stomach Misery Vanishes Before You Realize It.

If what you just ate is sitting on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, indigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad Taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapiesin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave, sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs of Indigestion in five minutes. Diapiesin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Bileousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapiesin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if

MOVED THE CHURCH TOWER

Method of Increasing the Size of Sacred Edifice Employed by Belgians.

A large crowd gathered in the little village of Becholt on the Belgian frontier to watch the unusual spectacle of a moving church tower. Some time ago it was decided that the church should be enlarged in order to accommodate the increased number of people in the village.

It being impossible to enlarge the church at the choir end it was decided to lengthen the nave. It was thought that this would involve the demolition of the tower, but to this, however, the authorities were opposed, holding that the tower was of great historical value, dating many centuries back, and to this opposition was added that of the villagers, who were against the scheme on sentimental grounds.

It was therefore decided to remove the tower, which is 90 feet high and about 3,000 tons in weight. This enormous mass of stone was cut away at the foundations, and a platform placed beneath it on rails. Slowly and carefully and with great patience by the workmen engaged in this extraordinary task the tower is being advanced inch by inch.

Its new place is about fifteen yards in front of the old one, and it is estimated that it will take ten days or a fortnight to reach the spot which is in readiness to receive the moving mass. While the operation was in progress the bells in the steeple were ringing loudly, as though to signal the extraordinary move it was about to make.

Thibetan Tricksters.
Fraud nestles even on the "roof of the world." In other words, the unsophisticated Thibetan does little cheating on his own account. He is almost the sole purveyor of all musk. It is sold at something like a dozen times its weight in silver, so one would think the scent would be pure. But this is far from the case. It is always sold in "pockets," and the vendors will not allow an examination by the buyer other than touch. But by this means he is unable to determine upon the purity and it frequently happens that the vendor has adulterated his merchandise with amidon, peas, beans, potatoes, mixed with blood, the yolk of eggs, pounded in a mortar until it resembles musk.Hint to the Despondent.
Visit an old-fashioned graveyard, with its graves overgrown with weeds and tombstones falling down, and you will come back to town willing to give life another trial.

HONESTY IS BEST POLICY

Candid Workman's Plea for Raise in Wages Met With Prompt Response.

At a table in the Philadelphia Manufacturers' club the other evening several manufacturers were gathered, discussing subjects with great interest and with no great impartiality. The talk switched in time to the question of wages and all had more or less to say on that point.

One of the men, who employs hundreds of workers, was called on to tell what he thought of the increased cost of living.

"Well," he said, "I know that my men are constantly asking for more wages and saying that they cannot live on what they earn, but one of them gave the richest excuse for a raise that I ever heard."

"He came into the office a few weeks ago and said that he had just been married and wanted more money. In a spirit of jest I said to him: 'So you want to take home more money to little wife? That's what you want the raise for, is it?'"

"Oh, no, sir," he replied, "I want the raise for myself. The wife knows how much I am getting now, sir, and I can't knock down any of my present wages; she gets it all. I need the raise for personal expenses."

"Well, you men can easily guess he got that raise; he is too blamed honest to let get away."

Pleasures of Hope.
It has been a thousand times observed, and I must observe it once more, that the hours we pass with happy prospects in view are more pleasing than those crowded with fruition.—Oliver Goldsmith.

AT LEXINGTON OPERA HOUSE

"The Fourth Estate," called the most powerful and striking of all journalistic plays, is the joint work of a Chicagoan, Joseph Medill Patterson, prominently identified with the Chicago Tribune and that very clever woman dramatist, Miss Harriet Ford. It comes to the Lexington opera house next Monday after a successful season divided between long runs in New York and Chicago.

The play tells the story of a fearless young newspaper man, Wheeler Brand, who upon being made managing editor of a great daily, owned by a condensed-milk and water-journalistic invader, is subsequently asked by the proprietor to guide its columns away from the truth so that the latter's social ambitions for his family may be gratified and the department store advertisements kept in Brand's struggle to get truth and type together are dramatic in the extreme.

In these days of official corruption and the awakening of the civic spirit in the American voter, this play hit the bull's eye in its popular appeal. It is also timely and up-to-date. The moral awakening which the American people is now experiencing and the fight against trusts and corrupt practices in public life, make this play, though less than which can be taken to heart by every true American.

The drama is realistic to the last degree, while the dialogue is brilliant and epigrammatic.

The last act shows the composing room of a newspaper at press time and the front page of a metropolitan daily is printed each night and distributed damp from the press, to the audience as it passes out.

"Forty-two" was the diversion of the afternoon and games were enjoyed to the greatest degree at eight small tables, where immediately following, delicious ices with coffee and sandwiches were served.

The Right to Die.

The man who has killed himself on Monday would on Saturday have wanted to live; but one only kills one's self once. Man's life is made up of past, present and future; so life must be a burden to him, if not for the past, the present and the future at least for the present and the future. If it is only a burden for the present he is sacrificing the future.

The evils of one day do not authorize him to sacrifice the life that is ahead of him. Only the man whose life is unhappy and who could have the certainty—which is impossible—that it will always be so, and that conditions and desires will never change, either through modification of circumstances and situations or through habit and the lapse of time—which again is impossible—only this man would have the right to kill himself.—Napoleon Bonaparte.

A BLIGHT

By ELIZABETH WEED

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Edith Wilton combined two marked contradictions. She possessed a lovable disposition, but when she was a baby, through the carelessness of a nurse, she fell and cut her lip, producing a wound that in healing left a scar, giving a very disagreeable expression to her face.

Edith could see in the faces of those she met a repugnance occasioned by her expression. At first she tried to obviate this effect by smiling, but she saw at once by the further recoil of the one looking at her that she was only heightening the disagreeable impression. Such physical blights usually have one of two effects, either the blighted person is unconscious of the defect or becomes painfully sensitive concerning it. Edith was of the latter class. She would not go to the social gatherings of her own age. More and more she shrank within herself. Then, becoming conscious that in being a recluse she would be forced into a life of selfishness, she began to devote herself to the poor.

She had friends, girl friends, who ought to draw her out socially. Confidence between young girls is close, while that between opposite sexes, especially at that age, is distant. The young men who met Edith looked upon the expression on her face and turned away with a shrug. Her girl friends had a better opportunity to earn what there was under the misleading expression. When one of her friends was married she insisted on Edith being her bridesmaid. Edith consented, but her friend would not excuse her.

At the wedding the bridesmaid, looking up suddenly, saw the eyes of a young man she had never seen riveted upon her and without that repelled expression she was accustomed to see. The man was a recent graduate of a medical school. The reason why his face did not reflect any disagreeable expression at her defect was because, being a practitioner, he was used to controlling his features when treating his patients.

But Edith did not know this. She knew only that a man with a kindly face was looking at her without any reference to her defect. And when Dr. Allan Emerson requested an introduction and was presented to her her heart fairly bounded within her. Not for an instant while he chatted with her did he seem conscious of her blight. And she, being made to feel that it was inconsequential, rose above it so far as to display the real attractiveness and worth that were in her.

And yet the reason of the young doctor's desire to make her acquaintance was that very defect. He had been observing her before she had noticed him and with a professional eye had been watching the effect of her scar upon the various expressions that flitted across her face. Some physicians, rough in manner, though they may be invaluable helpers to the afflicted, would not have scrupled to betray the real object of their interest. Emerson was of a different kind. He not only concealed his own thoughts for professional reasons, but from an innate sense of delicacy.

Whatever be the exact analysis of his feelings, the act produced a marked impression upon Edith Wilton. A man whose personnel, whose bearing, was far above the average had not only failed to show any repugnance at her defect, but had asked to be introduced to her and chatted with her, displaying unusual interest in her without seeming to be conscious that there was any difference between her and other girls, unless to her advantage. But when he asked her if he might not call upon her the cup of her delight was full.

A few months after the meeting Dr. Emerson asked Edith to be his wife. When she had accepted him he mentioned for the first time her defect, letting her know that he believed he could remove at least its effects.

"Why," said Edith, "didn't you remove it before proposing to me?"

"Because, sweetheart," he replied, "these stupid men who have been passing you by would have learned of your real worth, and the field would have been full of rivals."

There was more in her eyes than in her words when she replied, "You know very well that none of them were to be feared by you." But Edith dreaded lest in case an operation were not successful her lover might find himself tied through life to a blighted woman and unhappiness for both would result. She therefore insisted on having the operation performed and if the trouble were removed the marriage to take place afterward. Dr. Emerson demurred to this, saying that whether the operation were or were not a success he would not give her up. Both stood firmly on the ground that they had taken, but the man, since the result would be the same to him in any event, finally yielded.

The operation was merely a matter of delicate handling, its only object being to produce a certain result of facial expression. Dr. Emerson performed it himself, covering the wound he made with a piece of skin from the arm of another person. When the whole had healed and the bandages were removed, though the scar remained, the expression on the face had entirely changed.

Dr. Emerson is facetious in his remarks upon how he kept rivals from the girl he wanted and whom as his wife he considers a treasure.

THE MONTENEGRIN.

He Is Hospitable, but Dearly Loves the Vendetta.

To listen to a Bulgar singing is to make one's flesh creep or want to weep. The centuries of cruel oppression are only too manifest in Bulgarian music and words, but a Montenegrin grows restless over his songs and curses the powers that forbid him to emulate his forefathers' deeds en masse across the frontier. He does so whenever he can, but only in twos and threes.

When the Montenegrin goes raiding across the border it is really a more sporting affair than the well equipped and organized outings of the Bulgar "Comitachis." With him it is usually a private act of revenge or vendetta to which he invites one or two friends.

Then they steal across the border at night, find their man, do their best to kill him and then make tracks homeward with the whole district at their heels. Perhaps the method of killing is not up to the standard of western sport, for they shoot their victim "sitting," so to speak, and do not give him a chance, but as it is the recognized system on both sides little can be said.

This custom makes men very wary, and the stranger can appreciate the reason when he sees a plowman, for instance, attending to his duties with a rifle slung over his back. But in spite of this they are the essence of honor and hospitality. As their guest no one can come to any harm, and they will do all in their power to make his stay among them pleasant and safe.—Wide World Magazine.

THE HORSE.

His Appeal to His Master For Humane Treatment.

To thee, my master, I offer my prayer. Feed me and take care of me. Be kind to me. Do not jerk the reins. Do not whip me when going uphill.

Never strike, beat or kick me when I fail to understand what you want of me, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me, and if I refuse to do your bidding see if there is not something wrong with my harness.

Do not give me too heavy loads. Never hitch me where water will drip on me. Keep me well shod. Examine my teeth when I fail to eat. I may have an ulcerated tooth. That you know. Is very painful. I am unable to tell you in words when I am sick, so watch me, and I will try to tell you by signs.

Pet me sometimes. I enjoy it, and I will learn to love you. Protect me in summer from the hot sun. Keep a blanket on me in winter weather, and never put a frosty bit in my mouth, but hold it in your hands a moment first.

I carry you, pull you, wait patiently for you long hours, day or night. I cannot tell you when I am thirsty; give me clean, cool water often in hot weather.

Finally, when my strength is gone, instead of turning me over to a human brute to be tortured and starved, take my life in the easiest, quickest way, and your God will reward you in this life and in heaven. Amen.—From the Swedish in "Our Dumb Animals."

Birds' Eggs.

Ostriches lay the largest eggs of all birds now extant, according to a writer in the Scientific American, but the ostrich's egg would have appeared small beside that extinct Madagascar bird, the epyornis, which measured more than thirty inches in its smallest circumference. The smallest birds' eggs are those of the minute species of humming birds, which are smaller than the eggs of certain kinds of tropical beetles. But the cuckoo lays the relatively smallest egg—that is to say, while the jackdaw and the cuckoo are about equal in size, the former's egg is five or six times larger than the latter's. The fact that the cuckoo is wont to deposit its eggs in the nests of birds which are usually much smaller than itself doubtless accounts for this. The relatively largest egg is laid by the kiwi, a strange, wingless New Zealand bird. The egg is no less than five inches long, although the extreme length of the bird itself is only twenty-seven inches.

Tommy and the Worm.

There were only two pieces of cake and three hungry boys upstairs throwing their clothes on in the race to get down first. Tommy won out and rushed into the dining room breathlessly.

"That's a good boy, Tommy. The early bird gets the worm. Take a piece of cake," said his mother.

Tommy looked at the cake quizzically, inspecting it from all sides.

"What's the matter, Tommy?" asked his mother. "What are you trying to do?"

"Say, ma, which piece has the worm in it?" he inquired soberly.—National Monthly.

The Judge In Danger.

"Prisoner at the bar," said the portly, pompous and florid magistrate, "you are charged with stealing a pig, a very serious offense in this district. There has been a great deal of pig stealing, and I shall make an example of you or none of us will be safe."—London News.

Cause Enough.

"What made him angry when he was telephoning to the lawyers about his father's will?"

"He was cut off."—Buffalo Express.

The Kind It Was.

"Waiter, this chuck steak I ordered 'like wood.'"

"Yes, sah. Dat am woodchuck steak."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MARKETS

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—WHEAT—

The milling and flour situation is stagnant. Buying of yesterday was largely profit taking on short futures. Export business is out of the question. Stocks go on increasing at home and abroad with all other export countries selling lower and shipping freely. Temporary firmness in cash wheat prices caused by millers buying the choice grades, will hardly prove foundation enough for a bull market in the future now. It is doubtful if prices here will have much further swell until the selling side again will be popular and profitable.

CORN—It looks as if the rains predicted have failed to appear. The weather is generally cool and clear in the Southwest. Nebraska, Iowa, Indiana and Illinois are clear and cool with temperatures of 20 to 30 degrees. Without a period of hot weather at this time it looks as if the bulge in corn as well as in wheat would be followed by an early reaction.

PROVISIONS—Gelt says 19,000 hogs against 18,000 estimated and 18,000 last year. The trade has been cautious in selling the January product on account of October congestion. Out-side speculation is light. The January and May product are selling on the basis of 64 to 65 cents for hogs. The cash trade is dull.

FROST, COLDER, TO BE FREEZING

Frost, colder and down to the freezing point.

For want of anything better to do the Weather Prognosticator has decided to give Winchester a little variety in the weather program and there will be a drop of 20 degrees in the temperature by Friday night. The thermometers Thursday showed that the cold spell had already started, it being fourteen degrees colder Thursday at 10 o'clock than it was Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. According to the weather man the temperature will drop to the freezing point by Friday night.

The predictions for Thursday night was, "Fair, frost and much colder." Just how long the cold spell will last is not known.

Church Buried in Sand for Centuries.

After having been buried for several hundred years in immense sand drifts, St. Edenock's church, in Cornwall, England, is now being used once more as a place of worship. The edifice was built about 1200 A.D. It is situated near the shore, in a section of the country which is almost devoid of vegetation, great sand drifts covering many square miles. High winds, blowing in from the sea, piled the sand up over the church, completely burying it. No attempt was made to dig it out for several hundred years. A few years ago, however, work was begun, and the ancient church was repaired and services held in it.
